i think that is so wroung that the us goverment is trying to stop the brodcasting of local info like weather and trafic over satellite radio i do not live in a area that is covered by this service but i do visit a near by state were this service is covered like the bay area in calif. now for mw this service is great because i do not know how to get the weather info from this area when im driving down there it is a way of being prepared for the worst or the best weather when i am driving see what you get off the internet for weather befor you leave for a 3-5hr trip could change vary fast in jest a few min. like if a highway gets closed down because of snow i would not know this if it was not for my xm radio so for the goverment to close weather and trafic would be that you do not care one bit about me or any outhur person in the usa and also there a so many people that will not pay for a radio service that the local radio stations have nothing to worry about to tell the truth thay need to improve on there brodcasting
